WELCOME !

The wonderful Luberon area, protected by the Regional Natural Park, offers gourmet and tourist routes around each of the famous wine centers. In this country, the vineyard has chosen as backdrop the "bories" (or drystone shelters), fields of lavender, atlas cedars, fruit trees, olive trees, and ochre quarries...

From the vineyards to the village perched on the hillside, this is how discover the reality of the Luberon, from the virtually eternal dryness of the stones to the deep fleeting joy of sharing a glass of wine together...

■ Structured and generous, the rosé wines of the Luberon slopes will be a surprise to many with their freshness and their scent of red fruit. As their structure allows them to be wines for meals, they are totally at ease when accompanying white meat or exotic meals.

■ The red wines of the Luberon slopes are, by very definition, sensual wines with body and character with the aroma of wild scents and fruity sweetness. Rich and heady, they are autumn and winter wines par excellence, perfectly suited to any spice meal.

■ Fresh and aromatic, the white wines are characterized by their liveliness and elegance with a dominant floral note. They marry harmoniously with fish and are ideal companions for the goats' cheese of the area.

 As the winegrowers of the AOC Luberon wish to make their wines known to as wide a public as possible, they are partners with the Luberon gites. At gites taking part in the scheme, each new guest is welcomed with a bottle of AOC Luberon. Donated by a wine cellar nearby the gite this bottle allows one to get known the aromas and scents of Luberon wine.

CUCURON, PERTUIS MIRABEAU, GRAMBOIS

Cucuron

The roofs of Cucuron as seen from the terrace of the St Michel castle afford a unique and famous panorama (film "Le hussard sur le toit"). The old village with its 13th century ramparts (listed historical monuments) reflects the charm of old stones.

A pond dating back to 1403 gives all its charm to the Cucuron square with its hundred year old plane trees.

Starting point for a winegrowers' trail (walk through the vineyards).

Pertuis

This small town has succeeded in maintaining the charm of the old country. Its big market (on Friday mornings) and its farmers' market (on Wednesday and Saturday mornings) gives an insight into the riches and variety of this country where agriculture has created magnificent landscapes.

Mirabeau

Mirabeau enjoyed a degree of prosperity thanks to the toll which it collected on shepherds passing through with their flocks. The village was also used as a setting for the film Jean de Florette .by Claude Berri.

Grambois

This picturesque and welcoming village in the Aigues valley, perched 370 m up the steep slope which dominates the Eze valley. On the basis of the relics found here, the village is believed to date back to Celtic and Roman times. Between the 8th and 10th centuries, it became a fortified Saracen village. In the 14th century, Grambois became one of the 12 fortresses in Provence and remnants of the ramparts can still be seen.

LA MOTTE D'AIGUES, CABRIERES D'AIGUES

La Motte d'Aigues

This is a fortified village founded in the 11th century. Condemned by the Mérindol decree as a village of the Waldenses, it was destroyed in 1545. The territory of the commune traces a thin band from the crest of the Grand Luberon to the foot of the hills which line the Eze Valley. All the pleasure of water can be found in the Bonde pond thanks to an enlightened lord, Fouquet d'Agout, who had an aqueduct built in the 15th century so that he could create a pond. The pond is part of an irrigation network which is still in use and has a surface area of 30 hectares with depths of between 2 and 5 metres. Night market on Thursdays in summer with musical entertainment and eating places

Cabrières d'Aigues

Also a target during the repression of the Waldenses, Cabrières d'Aigues is the village where the Roman bas relief depicting a boat laden with amphorae and casks was discovered with the first representation of the wine trade in the Durance area. Currently reproduced on the façade of the cooperative wine cellar of the village, the original bas relief is conserved in the Calvet museum in Avignon.

Starting point for a hike up to Mourre Nègre, the crest of the Grand Luberon.

Puget-sur-Durance

Miniature village invaded by luxurious vegetation

Lauris

Nestled between the Luberon and the Durance, Lauris is perched on a rocky outcrop which until recently was crossed by the route which links Cavaillon to Pertuis and which brought it prosperity during the Middle Ages. Thanks to the dynamism of the local lords, the village enjoyed great prosperity and overflowed from its confines along the Cavaillon road to conquer the banks of the Durance and develop market gardens and crafts. With a population of 1200 inhabitants just before the Revolution the village spread to a new district on the road to Cadenet. The old village is worth a visit and has a number of superb viewpoints of the Durance plain.

OPPEDE, LACOSTE, MENERBES, BONNIEUX

↗ Oppède-Le-Vieux

The commune was abandoned in the 17th century and its inhabitants settled in the hamlet of Poulivets. For almost 40 years now, the old village has been undergoing restoration work. It is recommended to take the road leading to the 12 century church, passing close by the ruins of the castle of Meynier d'Oppède, the main instigator of the repression against the Waldenses. Starting point for the vineyard trail: walk through the vineyards lasting approx. 1 hour 30 minutes.

↗ Lacoste

Built close together, the houses are laid out in steps at the foot of the ruins of the castle of the Marquis de Sade. The site affords an exceptional panorama of the Ventoux, Luberon, Monts du Vaucluse and the perched villages. Lyrical arts festival in the month of August.

Menerbes

Old dwellings, most of them private, give the village its proud appearance. Not to be missed: the church and old cemetery where the tranquillity and serenity of another age reign. Ménerbes is listed as one of the most beautiful villages in France.

House of the Truffle and Wine: information and training centre.
Tasting.

↗ Bonnieux

The commune stretches from the crests of the Luberon to the Claparèdes plateau and the banks of the Calavon. From the current site, you can enjoy a remarkable panorama of the agricultural plain of the valley of Calavon, the Monts de Vaucluse and the Ventoux. Dominated by its high, partly Romanesque, partly Gothic church at an altitude of 425 meters, this pretty village commands the Lourmarin coomb, the only route crossing the Luberon.

GOULT, ROUSSILLON, APT

Goult

Enjoy discovering Goult, this hidden village in the Luberon. Between Cavailon and Apt on the national road no. 100 opposite the Luberon, our Lady of Light opens the door to a country of market gardening, fruit trees, vineyards and lavender.

Roussillon

Perched at the heart of deposits currently dormant, Roussillon is above all an artist's palette, a magical place where the combinations of oxides lend an infinite variety of colours to the ochres which are to be found in the landscape on the facades of the houses or on the trompe l'oeil on a gateway.

Apt

Founded by the Romans on the Via Dominata and a major town in the Empire (ancient theatre, forum), Apt, the city of Saint Anne, is dedicated to the mother of the Virgin Mary. Its cathedral is one of the oldest in Provence. In days gone by, many pilgrims travelled to Apt to see the remains of the Saint, reputed to make women fertile.

THE PRACTICAL LUBERON

Le Parc Naturel Régional du Luberon

The Luberon natural park is situated in the heart of the Provence, Alpes, Côte d'Azur Region in the south-east of France. It covers 185,000 hectares around the Luberon mountain which has as its high point, the "Mourre Nègre" at 1,125.00 metres.

The park was one of the first to be created in France in 1977 to protect the local flora and fauna.

Today the park creates a natural environment to promote both cultural and commercial activities which allow one to visit the walkways and paths which criss-cross the mountain and to discover its secrets.

Also, since 1997, the Luberon has been accepted by UNESCO in the worldwide network of biospherical reserves and has been promoted as a living example of long term viability. It serves as a ground for the co-existence of economic and social development at the same time preserving its natural habitat.

Other ways to discover the vineyards

* Winegrowers' trails

These trails of discovery cross the vineyards with information panels on the wine, the vine and the soil. Walks suitable for all, lasting approx. 1 hour 30 minutes.

Oppède: starting from Ste Cécile terraces.

Cucuron: starting from the cooperative cellar.

The Luberon by bicycle

At the heart of the Luberon Regional Park there is a 256 km marked cycle route between Cavaillon, Apt and Forcalquier, and Aigues Country, with information panels in each village. The Luberon leisure cycling association regroups accommodation professionals willing to welcome visitors on their escapades.

* Walking trails

The Luberon has a wide range of walking trails suitable for almost everyone. Most of these trails are marked. Ensure, however, that you take plenty water with you in summer, as there are few watering points in the Luberon.
